

Pap smears

What they are and why women should have them

NEW RESOURCE MATERIALS AVAILABLE

Presentation notes accompany the illustrated PowerPoint presentation and Flip Chart: Pap smears. What they are and why women should have them – An illustrated Health Education Guide.

The information is also available as a booklet, Have a Pap smear every two years.

The resources provide information to enable workers, carers and families to assist women with little or no experience of Pap smears, including young women, women with intellectual or learning disabilities and women who learn best through visual story telling.
