

What's Worked?

Due to demand from the sector, this forum will profile some of the work which is being done successfully by other disability workers in the field of sexuality education.

Hear from peers about their program formats and how they have effectively integrated sexual health into their programs and how they know it has worked.

Barbara Yates & Natalie Morphett (Disability SA)

Creating and using tailored education resources on puberty and menstruation with young women with intellectual disability.

Amanda Tulloch-Hoskins & Merel Purmer (Autism SA)

Parent Safety Forums: a pathway to creating better communication and understanding between parents and young people on the spectrum; including communicating about puberty and sexual development.

Garry Simmons (Disability SA) & Ralph Brew (SHineSA)

A presentation about the collaborative development of a resource on personal/sexual safety issues with a man on the Autism Spectrum. This eventually resulted in the man being able to respond effectively when his personal/sexual safety was under threat.

Everybody Needs to Know: if time permits, this comprehensive sexual health education resource from Queensland will be introduced to participants.

When: Thursday 8 April 2010

Where: Disability Information & Resource Centre
195 Gilles Street, Adelaide

Time: 2.00 – 5.00 pm

Cost: $10 (to be paid upon arrival)

Registration

By Friday 2 April

Tel: 8300 5317

Email: SHineSACourses@health.sa.gov.au

Sexuality and disability email network

The network enables disability workers with an interest in sexuality and sexual health to keep up to date with current issues, relevant events and new resources and opportunities. Face-to-face forums are held several times a year. To join the email network contact ralph.brew@health.sa.gov.au