

Women
With Disabilities
Australia
(WWDA)

WHAT DOES THE NDIS MEAN FOR WOMEN WITH DISABILITIES?

The Productivity Commission has undertaken an inquiry into a National Disability Long-term Care and Support Scheme and has recommended the establishment of a National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS).

Women With Disabilities Australia (WWDA) and Women With Disabilities Victoria are inviting women with disabilities to a Forum in Melbourne to hear your thoughts on the proposed scheme.

WHERE	Level 8/255 Bourke Street, Melbourne VIC
WHEN	Monday 11 April 2011
TIME	1pm – 4pm
RSVP	Thursday 7 April 2011
CONTACT	Shirley or Carolyn at the National WWDA Office
PHONE	03 6244 8288
EMAIL	wwda@wwda.org.au

Please let us know if you have any support, accessibility and/or dietary requirements. Afternoon tea will be provided. We can also support participants with travel costs to and from the venue. Numbers are limited, so get your RSVP back to WWDA as soon as possible!

HAVE YOUR SAY ON THE PROPOSED NATIONAL DISABILITY INSURANCE SCHEME (NDIS)!

The Productivity Commission's Draft Report is available in a range of formats from:
<http://www.pc.gov.au/projects/inquiry/disability-support/draft>